The jury of the "International Award Trieste-Right to Dialogue", 2nd edition on March 4, 2020, examined the applications presented for the award.

Section A (High profile personalities)

The candidates were:

Stefan Damian, presented by Joan-Aurel Pop
John Baptis Onama, presented by Lorenzo Biagi
Marco Rodari, presented by Paolo Maria Dell'Oca
Edda Vidiz, presented by Edvige Tantin Ackermann.

Considering the preferences and sensitivities expressed by the jurors, who have warmly appreciated all the candidates, the prize was awarded to

Marco Rodari, "Cloun"
For the total commitment deployed since 2008 among the children of the Middle East and other war zones, to which it offers the relief of a smile, instilling hope in a world undermined by fears and privations. The smile as a universal language, the wonder as pure realizing beauty are what Marco Rodari pursues and teaches, gathering every possible capacity for dialogue in the simple gesture of his art.

Section B (young Scholars)

Candidate:
Desh Deepak Wivedi with the unoubkished essay "Child trafficking: A misfortune in the third world with special focus on India and Africa along with the fish-eye perspective of the UN" written for The Indian Society of the International Law and the Report " Cyber Warfare: Is existing legal framework enough for the cyber realm?"written for the same Society
The scientific board reports the researches "as worthy of study and interest in the issues that the prize aims to encourage".
